Marketplace at Hamden is a 235,600 square foot shopping center featuring one of the highest volume Stop & Shop locations in New England. It also features T.J.Maxx, Staples, Old Navy, and popular specialty shops including Petco, Orangetheory Fitness, and TGI Fridays. The town of Hamden is an affluent community that is part of the Greater New Haven trade area.

This dominant retail corridor features today's most popular national names to serve as a draw from a large trade area. There is over one million square feet of shopping within four miles of the center including Kohl's, Marshalls, Bed Bath & Beyond, Party City, Walmart, and LA Fitness.

The center is well situated on Dixwell Avenue (Route 10) in an area known as the "Magic Mile" for its critical mass of shopping centers and major retail stores. This busy roadway, the major Hamden to New Haven route, boasts 24,948 cars per day. The Wilbur Cross Parkway runs through the center of town connecting Hartford to the north and the New York Metropolitan area to the south.
